

Sunshine Law

This online video series is designed to help school boards and superintendents learn and review the essential information about the Sunshine Law. The Sunshine Law is Missouri's open meetings and records act and governs everything that boards do from scheduling meetings to making decisions at those meetings. Through a series of video presentations, the following are addressed:

- Definitions of meetings and records
- Voting
- Meeting notice
- Permissible reasons to close a meeting
- Electronic communication
- Penalties for violating the Sunshine Law

Board members and the superintendent may view the videos independently at any time or as a group. The entire series can be viewed in segments or in its entirety.
